

BOZOVICH
USA

DECKING Cumaru vs. Ipe

	CUMARU	IPE
BOTANICAL NAME	Dypterex Odorata	Tabebuia spp.
TYPE	Harwood	Hardwood
DRYING	Kiln Dried 12%	Air Dried
APPEARANCE	Golden Tan to Reddish Brown with a more distinguished grain pattern	Dark brown to a tannish brown color with red accents colors with a more subtle grain pattern
MAINTENANCE	Low	Low
TERMITE RESISTANCE	High	High
STRENGTHS	High	High
MOVEMENT IN SERVICE	Low, when KD	Low
FIRE CLASS RATING	High	High
JANKA HARDNESS	3540 lbs	3600 lbs
LIFE	25+ years with no chemical treatment	25+ years with no chemical treatment
DURABILITY	Strong scratch resistance surface	Strong scratch resistance surface
COST	Significant price savings over Ipe and composite decking	Cumaru Decking is a great alternative especially when Ipe prices are sky rocketing.
FSC AVAILABILITY	YES (after July 2011)	NO

Save up to 50% when you choose Cumaru over Ipe